

"It's Personal"

2 Man Home Delivery

Nightfreight is a specialist in the home delivery market with a range of 2 man delivery options. By utilising the backbone of its shared network, Nightfreight is able to offer retailers a wide range of service propositions from shared dedicated services. This in turn, enables the retailer to meet the specific delivery and price requirements of their customers.

Delivering your brand right into the home

Nightfreight specialist 2 man home delivery services provide nationwide coverage from a fleet of tail-lift vehicles. Our crews are in constant mobile communication with customers. Deliveries are carried out by fully trained, courteous and professional staff.

These services address varying market needs, from small consumer goods (typically 30-150 kilos) to 'big ticket' items such as flat pack furniture and upholstery. Where service requirement and density demand a higher level of service, dedicated operations are also available.

We offer a personalised two man home delivery service for retail organisations and manufacturers. It is backed by a sophisticated customer contact centre and the latest communications technology. Added value services include internet booking of delivery date with text confirmation of an am/pm time window. Follow up calls are made en route to update on progress. We go to the room of choice with light assembly and cover return logistics.

Nightfreight Pacemaker

A complementary nationwide two man specialist delivery service, Pacemaker concentrates on high value items providing options such as a white glove service, product assembly, installation in the home, and removal of old product and product exchange.

In addition, Pacemaker can take responsibility for the receipt, management and despatch of both general stock and made to order items through its extensive warehouse operation. Distribution of high value soft furnishings, cabinets and vending machines are key sectors.
